Atlanta Stores Offering Yule Bargains Tomorrow

Transportation Given Free on Trolleys, Buses

row-by a cheerful army of holiday-minded shoppers in quest of the million-and-one bargains which await them in Atlanta's

The gala occasion is the fifth annual After-Thanksgiving Sales Event, sponsored by The Constitution and entered into with enthusiasm by Atlanta merchants who have filled their shelves and counters and aisles with outstanding values for the day-the high point in the Christmas shopping

New merchandise, fresh from the factories, for regular, every-day use, as well as a great abunday use, as well as a great abundance of goods with a distinctive holiday flavor will be paraded before the crowds all day tomorrow at prices which in reality have been slashed to the proverbial bone for the big one-day event.

Backing up the merchants in their effort to give the people outstanding values, Atlanta's transportation companies, restaurants and theaters have entered into the spirit of the event to make the day's activities more attractive and more considerate of the Yule-tide budget.

In this big edition of The Constitution you will find the whole story of these values, a compression hensive listing of everything you can possibly require to achieve a Christmas shopping list—or a list of family needs—which will combine to the satisfaction of your bank account and a generous spirit.

Bargains are not confined to the -you also have bargains offered you in getting to town and

Here, for instance, is how you can get a free ride to town and back on buses, trackless trolleys and street cars of the Georgia Power Company—with the excep-tion of feeder lines, the Stone Mountain, Marietta and Shoppers'

Special lines: Simply board your inbound street car, bus or trackless trolley between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock Friday morning. Watch those hours! Pay no fare, but ask the operator for a free shoppers' ticket entitling you to a return trip. When you are ready to return home, board your regular troiley or bus (with the abovenamed exceptions) at any time hefore 4 o'clock and give the op-erator your free shoppers' ticket.

If you use the lines of the Sub-urban Coach Company, here is

When you board a suburban each at any time between 9 and o'clock Friday morning—you simply pay your one-way fare and get a return ticket free. This applies on the following routes: Gar-den Hills, Northside Drive, Sandy Springs, Ridgewood, Fairburn and East Point. Remember—between Taxi Co-operation. To those with plan to use taxicabs, the Yellow Cab Company—to help encourage this early shopping and do away with later congestion—is co-operating with the following plan between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. Friday: If you plan to ride (preferably with others) to town in a cab, place your call for a cab at least 30 minutes beforehand, informing the company's operator that you want attend the After-Thanksgiving Sale. Then, pay the taxicab driver your one-way fare to town and ask him to sign the meter receipt. The signed meter receipt then be comes, your return transportation, good any time before 4 p. m., to the full amount of the cost of your inbound trip.

That shows the sort of co-operation which this big event is re-ceiving on all sides. But that's not

Official hostesses of The Constitution will circulate through the stores during the day, giving away to out-of-town visitors guest tickets to Loew's Grand theater and the Rialto theater, as well as tickets entitling the recipients to free meals at the Arcade restaurant, Victory cafe and the Dumas Holsum cafeteria

Pilot Is Acquitted In Plane Crash

SANTA ANA, Cal., Nov. 25.— (P)—Lieutenant William N. Wilson, accused of manslaughter in the death of 12 persons after a collision between his Army bomb-er and a commercial airliner, was acquitted today by a court-martial.

The trial board of 10 superior officers deliberated 37 minutes.

Its decision concluded a trial of less than three days—highlighted yesterday by the testimony of a 20-year-old private in the tank corps that an American airliner flew under the bomber when they collided in mid-air near Palm Springs, Cal., October 23.

Big Thanksgiving Celebration Held At Carrollton

CARROLLTON, Ga., Nov. 25.—Their bumper crops from rich bottom lands and terraced hillsides harvested, and goals for even greater production in the making, farmers and townspeople gathered at this north Georgia county seat today and gave up thanks to God in a big Thanksgiving celebration.

From far and wide they came in mule-drawn wagons, in gas rationed trucks and automobiles for the flight from Bataan and Corregider to sale campaigns.

But greater specialization of crops is necessary to win the war, some 2,500 to 3,000 celebrants were told by Clifford M. Town-were told by Clifford M. Townjustment Administration.

Production Board. of heavy cream, but only five Acting on a recommendation by pounds of milk to produce one its food requirements committee, WPB prohibited dairy producers from distributing whipping cream to householders, retailers, restaurants and other consumers.

Coffee Cream Okay Coffee cream isn't affected. This s whippable, provided sufficient energy is applied, but it lacks the thickness of heavier cream.

The order is intended to con-serve fluid milk for consumer use and for the manufacture of dried whole milk, cheese, butter and other manufactured dairy prod-

Clyde E. Beardslee, chief of the WPB dairy section, said the action would help relieve the most critical butter shortage in 10 years and fluid milk shortages in most sections of the country.
With a few exceptions, no dairy producer may deliver, except to manufacturers of butter, cheese, and other foodstuffs, any cream having a milk fat content exceeding 19 per cent.

To Conserve Milk Cream containing up to 19 per cent milk fat is known as light ream, and used chiefly in coffee and on the table. Cream containing higher milk fat is known as medium, special or heavy cream, and generally used for whipping purposes. Some cream contains as much as 40 per cent milk fat.

Milk fat content slightly higher than 19 per cent will be allowed in California, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada and the District of Columbia. This is because of laws with minimum requirements exceeding 19 per cent. For California, Minnesota. Montana and the district a milk fat content of 21 per cent is allowed and for Nevada 23 per cent. In each WPB allowed 1 per cent above existing minimum re-

Whole Social Program To Be Reorganized Under System.

By H. J. J. SARGINT. LONDON, Nov. 23.—(NANA)
The British national plan to abolish poverty, drafted by Sir William Beveridge, chairman of the government committee on social insurance, is in the hands of the work, the report runs to some words—the length of a

It will be on sale to the public by about Christmas and those who have seen early copies say it should be a best seller. In-deed, it affects the life and welfare of every man and woman in the country.

Here is a brief review of the services which already exist and which, although they are in many respects the most elaborate in the world, may be carried consider-ably further by the Beveridge re-

The unemployed are protected in several ways: by the unemployment insurance scheme, by the assistance board which looks after those who have exhausted their rights under the first scheme, and by public assistance which acts as a kind of net to receive all those who are not eligible for other forms of social assistance. Those who are out of sistance. Those who are out of work through illness are taken care of by the national health insurance scheme, and those unem-ployed through old age, by the contributory and non-contributory pensions scheme.

Forms Being Improved.

These forms of insurance and assistance are constantly being improved, and war has been no deterrent to this progress. Two months ago, for instance, the assistance board raised the pension allowances for more than a million old people, bringing the total cost of all old age pensions to 135,000,000 pounds a year. That was not an emergency measure dependent on war conditions, but ermanent reform

A human aspect of the new regulations is that, while in the past many hundreds of thousands of old age pensioners were too proud to apply to the public assistance authorities for extra help, their pensions are now taken to them by officers of the assistance board who visit the old people in their

Again, under the national health insurance scheme, an additional three shillings a week has been allotted to the benefits and the scope of these extended to another half million people. This, too, will be a permanent measure

Under the same scheme are the medical benefits which provide free medical attendance and treatment and include the pro-vision of proper medicines and of the prescribed surgical appliances. The doctors who under-take this work are known familiarly in England as "panel doc-tors." People in the area where they work are free to choose from the local list whatever "panel doctor" they prefer and to get the medicine he prescribes from any authorized chemist free.

All this is financed on a con-tributory basis, the contributions being shared equally between workers and their employers, with a subsidy from the state. The unemployment insurance works on the same principle and covers all men between the ages of 16 and 65 and women between 16 and 60 who are employed in Great Britain at salaries under 420 pounds a year. This means that almost 90 per cent of the working population is now covered. In this scheme, too, benefits have been raised by three shillings

Wartime Exigencies. Many of the social services have been adapted to wartime exigencies but this could never have been done so successfully if the authorities had not been able to build on a good existing frame-Another factor that has been of great positive advantage in planning for war conditions is the reserve of good health built up indirectly through the 4,000,000 new houses constructed between 1918 and 1939.

Although the civilian building program has now virtually come to a standstill, in the last three years accommodation for 51,000 beds has been added to the hos-pitals of England and Wales alone, and building on the same scale has provided Scotland with 75 government-owned hospitals, with a total of 11,800 beds. There are, in addition, 109 emergency ma-

For the purposes of war, 80 per cent of the hospitals have been welded together in the emergency hospital service. This is the first time that the state has stepped into the hospital system, which it now controls and finances, though on the casualty side only, which des injuries to civilians due to

Many hospitals have formed nobile teams of doctors and nurses who can be moved to another hospital, or another town as a complete unit in themselves. This system of mobility has proved a very useful way of econo-mizing in personnel. Rehabilitation service has also been set up, with four types of special treatment centers, and there are already 430 such establishments. Hospitals are now organized to inction in groups; those in congested areas are planned as casualty receiving and clearing sta-tions, those in rural districts as first-class surgical hospitals. The old, all-purpose conception of a "general" hospital has given way to a pattern of hospitals in which some specialize in one subject, some in another, so that the patient goes to the one most suited to his needs and not, as used to happen, to the first available. Two of the services which are

uality of Planes Helped Allies in Africa

British magazine, The Aero-plane, and air commentator for

The four factors were-and are:

(1) Superiority in the technical quality of the aircraft; (2) Superiority in numbers; (3) Adequate ground organization for servicing, maintenance and re-pair, and (4) Masterly handling of available squadrons in a balanced offensive.

Bases Available. Added to these essential quali-ties is the fact that a chain of air bases was available for occupation as the advance went forward, westward from Egypt, east-ward from Algeria. Furthermore, the enemy's use of his own air forces was distinguished by neither imagination nor initiative. Not for the first time, the Luft-waffe, so rigidly bound to the ground forces, could exploit none of the versatility which characterizes air power, and which is es sential for success.

Let us examine more closely the four factors in the success.

First, the Allied forces had marked technical superiority in the aircraft employed. The basis of all air power is the single-seater fighter. Both in Egypt and in French North Africa, the Super marine Spitfire, flown by British, American and Imperial pilots, showed that it was a fighter "par excellence." The Spitfire was able establish real air supremacy able to drive the enemy from the Boston Tea Party. Of the other types of aircraft which have done so well in North Africa-Hurricane and Kittyhawk fighter-bombers; Boston, Balti-more and Mitchell medium bombers-all American; and Halifax and Liberator heavy bombers have been outstanding. To single out but one, the Douglas Boston 3 of the British Air Forces, similiar the American A-20C, performed magnificently and lent itself to the new brilliant tactics described Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder as "Boston Tea Parties."

In these "Parties," concentrated attacks were made by Bostons in formation against enemy fighter air fields. Bombs were dropped at 15-yard intervals over the whole target, which was thus completely blanketed. Air Superiority.

Early in the campaign, the Allied forces built up superiority of numbers over the Luftwaffe in Egypt—estimated at some 600 German and 400 Italian first-line aircraft. Magnificently organized workshops behind the lines made possible the maintenance of the Allied aircraft in action at a constant level. In that respect the enemy failed and, as he retreated abandoned much of his equipment.

The use of parachute troops in French North Africa is another example of the exploitation of the right weapons in the right places. The 1.500-mile flight by American and British troops under Lieuten-ant Colonel Edson D. Raff in Douglas transports from England to Africa must rank as one of the great feats of its kind in this war and as one of immense significance for the future.

Allied Sweeps

How great these things are to be in the near future will depend very much on the air strength of the United Nations. The Axis is likely to try to set up the strongest possible air cover in the triangle

Pray for Peace, Governor Urges

Governor Talmadge, in a Thanksgiving proclamation yester day, called upon the people of Georgia to pray "for an early and honorable peace for America." "Whereas, a divine providence has blessed us with bountiful foods in time of woe and distress," the proclamation read in part, "I, Eugene Talmadge, Governor of the state of Georgia, do hereby de-clare Thursday, November 26, as Thanksgiving Day and a holiday." The Governor called upon the cople "To dedicate this day to prayer for the safety of our sons and fathers on the far-flung battle fields and place our trust in God for their safe return; and let us all pray for an early and honorable peace for America."

The Governor called upon all public offices, banks and other places of business to close in observance of the day, along with the various departments of state.

Hospital Aides Are Needed By WAVES

Medical Technicians Required To Relieve Men for Sea Duty.

Hospital technicians are needed by the WAVES, women's division of the Navy, Lieutenant Mildred McFall, USNR, director of WAVE recruiting for the Sixth Naval Dis-trict, announced yesterday. Medical technologists, dental Medical technologists, dental hygienists and mechanics, physiotherapy and occupational therapy technicians between the ages of 20 and 36 may qualify providing they have a high school education and have had three years of practical experience. Only one year of practical experience is re-quired for those who have com-pleted a course of study in one of the enumerated specialties and who have high school educations.

Trained in Iowa.
"WAVES enlisted in this division will be trained at the Naval Training School, at Iowa State Teachers' College for a period of five weeks, at the completion of which time they will be rated as hospital apprentices, second class, and transferred to the National Naval Medical center for four weeks' orientation in the duties of their rating," Lieutenant Mc-Fall said.

"On completion of the entire training period they will enter active duty as petty officers in the Naval Reserve.

"This program provides a real opportunity for women who have had experience as medical and dental technicians," she added. The additional training accepted applicants will receive under na val tutelage will prove invaluable later life. Also it will give many women an opportunity to render real service to their country by releasing a large number of men for duty at sea."

Other Openings.
Enlistees under this program will serve only within the continental limits of the United States. The Office of Naval Officer Procurement also has openings for a limited number of officer candidates from 24 to 35 who have experience in financial administration. Applicants in this field must possess a college degree in business administration, economics or mathematics and meet the ninimum standards for naval of-

On an ordinary week-day, many people stand for miles on trains and buses. Multiply this by the usual Christmas rush, add to it the unusual amount of travel by soldiers on furlough, and subtract a large amount of equipment which has been diverted to mili-tary use and it's a picture that presents an incomprehensible traf-fic jam.

"Trains are already running late," Kelcey pointed out. "An ex-tra load means schedules will be even more upset. It's possible that some folks might find that Christ-mas arrived before they did at their destination."

Quoting Bernard M. Baruch's the is thinking of Christmas, and the enormous increase in travel which the holiday season usually brings.

Pointing to the last available ODT figures that 51 per cent of the people traveling are doing so for personal reasons, he said, "If you expect to do any traveling, you will do it standing up." Then he made a pun which he hastened to apologize for: "Mr. Baruch said, 'Discomfort or defeat.' I say, 'Discomfort in de-feet.'"

The ODT program which Kelcey heads in this region rises from the necessity for conservation of transportation facilities for an uncertain length of future time. The

A. & P. Firms Are Charged With Monopoly

Justice Department Indicts 11 Subsidiaries, 16 Officials.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 .- (A)-The government accused the nation's largest food chain today of driving competition out of business through systematic domination of local areas, and drew a reply that every charge would be disproved.

The charges were made in a twocount indictment voted by a federal grand jury at Dallas, Texas, against 12 companies in the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company group; 16 officials in that group; Business Organization Inc., and its president, Carl Byoir of New York, public relations representative of

Baby Jackets Battle Unbeaten Bullpups Today

Season of Surprises This is a football season of upsets, indeed. Boston papers, it is now revealed, have initiated a "Castleberry for All-America" movement. Two of the Boston papersthe Post and the American-have chosen Tech's star freshman tailback and pictures have been forwarded by the publicity bureau at the Flats.

Other requests have been received here of late, both for pictures and a bit of data as to ground gained by Scintillating Clint for the season to date. Dwight Keith, in charge of Tech's publicity, revealed yesterday that the average ground gained by Castleberry, in some 18 minutes per game, is a bit over eight yards a try.

This performance, Keith asserted, gives Castleberry a better average per carry than Georgia's vaunted Frankie Sinkwich. Keith hastened to add that Castleberry has not seen nearly as much action, however.

Coach Bobby Dodd pointed out that the reason Castleberry hasn't played more than he has is that "he is our spot or climax back. He only weighs 155 pounds and we don't want to subject him to too

At Boys' High Castleberry played approximately a quarter a game. And he was the most valuable man on the field. He manages to turn in a winning performance with a maximum of effort in a minimum of time.

The boy has never played on a losing team.

More Recognition Those who are not chained by tradition have given Castleberry quite a hand. He recently made the second team of the annual NEA pick. On the first team, Harvey Hardy, Tech's brilliant guard from Thomaston, Ga., and Georgia's Captain Sinkwich were chosen.

It will be surprising if Hardy doesn't make many a team. He is surely an All-American guard. More power to him. We believe in giving credit where credit is due, and the year it's due.

Phooey on the old tradition, such as in Castleberry's case, that a freshman has no place on an All-America. Anybody who plays All-America football, Saturday after Saturday, deserves to be picked. Too many pickers have handed berths to boys simply because it was their last year.

In the most cases, a boy is better as a junior than a senior. Sometimes an All-American freshman comes along. But in most years they're buried on freshman teams.

On the subject of all-star players, too, it is no secret the Flats that the most underrated player of the season is Mutt Manning, the Jacket center.

He has been virtually a 60-minute performer in the tough games simply because Tech couldn't afford to be without him. That, in our book, is as fine a compliment as can be paid a boy.

They couldn't afford to be without him. Even when he hung in there on one leg against Alabama, he was the best center on the field.

As To Defense It will be inferesting to Tech supporters to know what Alabama's Frank Thomas thinks of Castleberry as a defensive

The other day, in an interview with Zipp Newman (Birmingham News), Tommy declared, "He (Castleberry) is the best first-year defensive back I have seen as a player and coach. We knew Castleberry was a fine offensive player but we didn't know until we played Georgia Tech he was at breaking up passes. two pass completions by going into the other fellow's territory and knocking the ball away from receivers."

Here is a point for the All-America pickers to consider well. While Clint goes into the game as a spot or climax player, it may be either as a runner. passer or pass catcher, for offense, or as a defensive man against passes or going down under punts. He is adept at anything he does.

This business of boosting Castleberry is old stuff with this department. It began the day he threw a touchdown pass against Notre Dame-a running pass to Pat McHugh in the end zone at Cartier Field.

It was only the second pass Castleberry had ever thrown in college. Since that day he has been a leader in every Tech victory.

Such a boy is entitled to complete national recognition . . . and he's getting it.

Facing Disguised as a peace-loving Music Connecticut Yankee from Massachusetts, by way of Texas, Bill Cunningham (Buston Herald), waving a white cotton flag, alighted from a rattler last night and took sanctuary behind bolted doors at the Biltmore hotel. Cunningham heads for Athens today. He ain't mad with nobody. He wants to see a Georgia-Georgia Tech football game (and may the best team win). In his haste to hold himself incommunicado, Cunningham dropped few adjectives anent the Boston College-Georgia feud.

"A fast-improving Holy Cross team is a real threat for B. C. Saturday," Cunningham observed. (A fastmoving Cunningham hopes to escape the wrath of the Bulldog clan at Athens.)

Cunningham, seeking Bowl information, as everyone is doing, said he hoped a meeting between Georgia and Boston College would work out.

He might be willing to spot more than 28 points

Are Expected To See Game

Proceeds Go to Scottish Rite Hospital; Kickoff Slated at 3:00.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY. The two somewhat unknown freshman football teams of Tech and Georgia will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the 10th annual benefit game for the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children.

A near-capacity crowd of some 30,000 is expected to be in the stands at Grant Field for the kickoff. For the past three years, the game has set a record in attendance for a freshman game and this year will be no exception despite wartime travel restrictions.

The crowd is a tribute to the organizers and supporters of the game, mainly W. C. Wardlaw, Frank Spratlin and Thomas C. Law, in that every dime collected goes to the hospital. Everybody pays their way into the park as no passes are ever issued. Admission is $1.10, with service men being admitted for 55 cents.

GAME A TOSS-UP.

The game itself is regarded as a toss-up as little is known about the freshman teams this season. changes which made it possible for the yearlings to play in the varsity plus the national excitement over the records of Tech and Georgia have caused fans to pay little attention to the frosh.

But a real battle, one well worth the money, is assured. The two teams have no ratings or "bowls" to think about and there is nothing at stake except honor. Need-less to say, the boys defend that with all their abilities.

The Bullpups, coached by Hove ell Hollis, are undefeated in two previous starts, having beaten Clemson and Auburn. Dwight Keith is coaching the Baby Jackets for the first time and his team has defeated Auburn while losing to a Suwanee team which was made up of old varsity players.
EX-DECATUR ACE.

The Baby Jackets are sparked by Tailback Frank Broyles, ex-Decatur High star and regarded as one of the prime freshman plums of the season. Broyles excels in passing and kicking but also is capable of breaking loose Georgia will match his passes with those of little H. C. Hickman, a member of Athens' High's state championship team last season. An interesting sidelight on the contest is that two brothers will be playing opposite each other in the two lines. Maurice and Charlie Furchgott both started at Boys' High last season but the former chose to get his education at Tech and the latter Georgia. Both are

The Bullpups lead in the series, six games to three, by virtue of three victories in the last three Tech will be out to close the gap today.

Ex-Vols to Lead Georgia's Navy Against Tide

Bob Foxx and Suffridge To Captain Skycrackers at Birmingham.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 25.—(P)— Two former University of Tennessee football stars will lead the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School eleven against the University of Alapama's Crimson Tide Saturday at Birmingham.

Lieutenant Ray Wolf, head coach of the Navy Skycrackers, to-day appointed Bobby Foxx, for-mer Volunteer backfield star, captain for the Service team's final scheduled game of the year, and Bob Suffridge, former All-American guard, alternate captain.

At Tennessee, the two stars played against Alabama in the schools' rivalry loaded games.

Both Foxx and Suffridge have been standouts in the Skycracker lineup this year and both have been mentioned frequently for places on a mythical All-Service It's ZACHRY for your

Georgia Tech, Tulane and Navy Picked by Williamson System

Penn, Texas And Colgate Are Favored

Alabama Chosen To Beat Skycrackers, B. C. Over Holy Cross.

By PAUL B. WILLIAMSON. This Thanksgiving Day will see several classic football games that are wrapped in many old-time traditions and that are always hard fought regardless of current records. Most of these annual get-togethers are between opponents that are closely ranked in the Williamson ratings.

There's Pennsylvania over Cornell, Tulane over Louisiana State, Texas over Texas A. & M. and Colgate over Brown among the name teams.

Other lesser but big local classics include Dayton over Ohio U., Fresno over San Jose, Washington U. of St. Louis over St. Louis U., La. Normal over Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Muhlenberg over Albright and Catawba Appalachian.

leading game Saturday, from the standpoint of national interest, will be that between Army and Navy at Annapolis. This game is pretty hard to figure this year, but the System favors the Navy.

What might have been the game of the year and one fought for the national championship, has for the national championship, has been looked forward to for weeks by many fans—namely, this season's meeting between Georgia and Georgia Tech. When the Bulldogs, of Georgia, fell before Auburn last week by 27-to-13, a possible national football champion fell a week ahead of schedule. As matters now stand, the System takes the Rambling Wreck from Georgia Tech.

In other big games Saturday the Williamson System predicts Alabama over Georgia Preflight in a hard contest; Boston College over Holy Cross in what may be harder than it looks because it is a tough Holy Cross in what may be harder than it looks because it is a tough grudge affair; Detroit over Oklahoma A. & M., perhaps; Ohio State over Iowa Preflight in a honey; North Carolina Preflight over Fordham and Rice over Baylor difficult to decide. lor, difficult to decide.

BETTER THAN SINKWICH?-Little Clint Castleberry, Georgia Tech's freshman sensation who already has made two All-American teams, deserves a place on the elite squad even over Frankie Sinkwich, his admirers say. They maintain that the little left-hander, who southpaws with Hubbell-like control, is all around as good as famous Frankie, of the Georgia Bulldogs. Castleberry cohorts make much of his ball-carrying record: 466 yards on 55 lugs, an average of 8.5 per try—compared to Sinkwich's 154 runs for 823 yards, or 5.3 per run. Take your choice.

But the big football game between the age-old rivals is not the only feature. The annual home-coming dances to be held in Woodruff Hall are proving a tre-mendous lure, with Will Osborne's New Hollywood band providing the music and the decorations being simple but patriotic. Large American flags will be worked in with Red Cross flags to pro-vide the setting. Profits from the four dances will go to the Athens Red Cross chapter by vote of the Interfraternity Council and will provide material for the chapter to turn out surgical bandages for a year and a half.

There are also other features, such as the annual decorating contest engaged in between fraternity, sorority and dormitory house, with a silver cup going to the winner; the annual Sphinx initiation and skit between the halves at the football game; parade of the seniors diked out in the fourth period opened. derby hats and canes; initiations by various other organizations, and the big turkey luncheon from 12 to 2 p. m. Fabulous Frosh of '39 In Swan Song Saturday

Most Brilliant Group in Bulldog History Bow Out in All-Important Tech Game.

By F. M. WILLIAMS.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 25.—Saturday marks the end of the row for the most brilliant single group of football players ever to come to the University of Georgia, for against Tech on that day the careers of all those remaining from that fabulous 1939 freshman team will

Most brilliant of the stars, of course, has been All-America Frankie Sinkwich, who during three years has gained more re-nown than any other gridder in Georgia's history.

He is the first man ever to wear the Red and Black who has made an All-America team two years in a row. And just as he has been since his first day here, he's the "man of the hour" from Georgia's

So far as known here, the bread ration remains at 150 grams a day tal of five ounces-and other ratal of live ounces—and other ra-tions in proportion. The promise of grain from Germany may be the result of a shorter wheat har-vest than last year's subnormal crop, which has been reported. The rice and corn crops, on the other hand, were said by neu-tral observers to be good. And corn goes into Italian bread, while the rice serves as a substitute for spaghetti—that share of the rice to Italians after the exports go to Germany.

But a handful of beans, a plate of vegetable soup and a few drops of olive oil still, presumably, are the daily diet of the lower third of the population.

Industries Hard Hit.

Harder hit than ever by the war are the Italian industries, for the RAF has been blasting the factories of Genoa, Milan and Turin with blockbusting bombs. This may well be a telling blow raids continue relentlessly. With Italian plants dependent on steel,

Soon the mystery cleared up. The German consul general in travention of the regulation.

This would seem to indicate Frenchman Had Part in Laval to drag Payart out of seclusion and to name him the Vichy representative to King Boris. Bulgaria is one of the two or three European states which still maintain diplomatic relations with Russia. And it was known to the Ger-man foreign office that Payart had touch with the Soviet minister in Sofia. In other words, owing to Laval's hold on Vichy and his votion to the German cause, Hit-ler thought the services of Payart could be enlisted in the negotia-tion with Russia which he planned Hitler believed that the "second front" controversy gave him an opportunity to drive his wedge by the way of Russia. And he was willing to pay the price: To do away with that anti-Bolshevik ideology upon which he had always relied to provide his collaborationist friends in Vichy, in Croatia, in Rumania, in Scandinavia, and in South America, with a case to impress their countrymen.

Undoubtedly, the prospect of another vinter camp ign on the eastern front caused him to overcome his hesitations, if any were left. But the interesting point to stress is that, even before the victories in North Africa and in the South Pacific had turned the tide of the war, Stalin, notwithstanding his criticism of Allied strategy, did not allow the Nazis to harbor any hope, even for a strictly limited purpose of diplomatic maneu-

Weather's No Secret,

Weatherman Is Fooled OKLAHOMA CITY .- (A)-Oklahoma City air base soldiers thought they had figured out a clever but secret way of reading the early morning weather fore-casts (long since forbidden on broadcasts) so that they might dress to meet the day's conditions.

The soldiers waited until members of the weather forecasting squadron came off of night duty. They observed closely what they were wearing. If it were rain-coats, the soldiers donned oilskins if it were shirtsleeves, they want without coats.

"But it doesn't work," the men complained. "Those fellows are always getting caught in the rain without raincoats!

SHOE

School One of City's Best Equipped.

Already functioning in all kinds f government registrations and rationing, the schoolhouse is becoming even more of a community center now that Red Cross First Aid stations are being organized and set up in the school buildings. One of the first schools to set up such a station, the Goldsmith school on West Marietta street now has one of the best equipped sta-tions in the city.

D. W. Sanders, its director, con-ceived the idea, and between his night shift job (from 11 o'clock at night until 7 o'clock in the morning) and the classes in electrical engineering he was taking at Georgia Tech, he managed to put in hours of soliciting funds and teaching Red Cross first aid classes. Neighbors donated the beds loaned for the duration), and the sheets, pillows, blankets to go with them. Others donated money to buy stretchers, splints, ban-dages, medicine and nine individual emergency belts, fully fitted out with the necessary medicines.

There are now 27 women workers at the detachment, all regis tered first-aiders, and they do all the work, even to stretcher carrying, since most of the neighborhood men are railroad workers and aren't always available. Since they're located in the basement of Goldsmith school, they are never without a "victim"—the kids just

W. W. Neely, deputy medical director of the Office of Civilian Defense for the Atlanta metropolitan area, praised the work of these women on his visit to the school

"Since civilian defense funds are limited, and emergency hospitals will, of necessity, be few in number in the event of a disaster, units like this will be invaluable. he said, "We are hoping that more schools will set up such stations.

Significance To Nation at War

(The special significance of Thanksgiving Day this year in a nation at war is highlighted in the following special article by Governor Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, where the annual festival was originated by the Pilgrims at Plymouth after their first harvest in 1621. Governor Saltonstall is a direct descendant of Sir Richard, of Yorkshire, who settled in Massachusetts in 1630.)

Odd Bridal Fete Held

In Sydney, Australia Neither bride nor bridegrom was at the wedding party given in Sydney, Australia, by the mother of Flying Officer John Roberson, of the RAAF, stationed in England. He cabled home saying his wedding to Katherine Bray, of Colling ham, would take place somewhere in England. His mother, knowing neither the time nor the place, decided to give the fete anyway, inviting relatives and friends. Roberson met his bride several months ago at a hospital where he was convalescing.

ATLANTA, GA., NOVEMBER 26, 1942.

Thanksgiving, 1942

We give Thee thanks, dear Lord, for many things, this Day of Thanksgiving, 1942.

With humble and contrite hearts we lift our eyes to Thy heavens and whisper our gratitude for so many blessings.

We are thankful that, despite the evil man has done, Thy world is still a place of beauty and of glory far beyond our pitiful deserts. We are thankful that the sun still shines upon us, that green things grow and that the fullness of the earth provides for our bodily wants. We are thankful for each tiny flower that holds Thy loveliness within its heart; for the voices of the birds that sing in innocent joy as each new day awakens.

We are thankful for the good news of recent days that has come from the far-flung battlefields where the boys we love are fighting to save us from an enemy who would destroy. We are thankful for our ability, as a nation, to work and give and sacrifice and fight for those things that are worthy and of good repute; for those precious things, both seen and Above all, dear Lord, we thank Thee for the lessons we are learning through the fiery trials of war. For the new understanding that is coming to us, that the simple things, the eternal things, are more real than all else. For the knowledge that is filling our hearts that all we have is but worthless tinsel if we lose the fundamental verities of truth and faith

We, with all the world, are passing through a time of tribulation and of trial. Yet, slowly but surely, we are awakening to the truth that out of this trial we are gaining something of immeasurable value.

For we are learning to understand our brothers, all over the world, better. We are learning the truth of Thine ancient wisdom, that it is more blessed to give than to receive; that all men are their brothers' keeper; that only through sacrifice shall the bread of happiness return to us in manifold degree.

True, we weep as we hear of the death in pattle of our loved ones. But even then, dear Lord, we are thankful they were granted the privilege of dying, as die we all must, for a cause that makes death glorious and that shall enshrine their names for all time among the company of the heroes and the saints.

And we pray, even as we give thanks, that we may forget the failures that have gone before and look only forward to the victories of the spirit that are to come.

Let us, then, as we give thanks for all the blessings of yesterday and today, realize we fight, always, the forces of material and of spiritual evil, not to retain the old and faulty ways we have known, but to create a better and a nobler world. A world, dear Lord, that shall lift humanity, made in Thy image, nearer

This, dear Lord, be our prayer on this Day of Thanksgiving, in this year of the war, 1942.

-WE HAVE CAUSE FOR THANKS!-War Front Money

We have read how soldiers of the United States, in Africa, have been furnished with gold coins with which to trade with the natives. The Arabs, it is said, cannot understand the value of paper currency, but are glad to accept gold coin.

Now it appears that the gold coin used is prebably the old French Napoleon, which is worth, today, about $6.50 in American dollars.

There is, however, another odd form of money which has been supplied to our forces in Africa. That is a special United States paper currency, redeemable like any other dollar when presented in the United States through normal channels by accredited individuals or agencies, but worthless to any Axis government or insti-

This is so, if any of this money should fall into Axis hands, it would be worthless to them. And, in the normal processes of battle, it is , inevitable that some of our money should reach the Axis, even though only in small amounts taken from American prisoners or casualties.

But no German or Italian is going to be able to profit, in a currency way, from our occupation of North Africa. The money arrangement is but one more illustration of the meticulous planning and care for detail which has marked the entire North African campaign.

Moslems and the War

Nuri Es Sadi, prime minister of Iraq, has written President Roosevelt, stating the Arab races of North Africa and the Near East rejoice at the Allied Nations successes in North Africa.

Nuri Es Sadi is a devout Mosfem and an outstanding personage in the Islamic world. His views may safely be accepted as reflecting the views and emotions of the vast majority of the Moslem peoples.

One of the most important results of the occupation of North Africa and the smashing of Rommel's forces in Egypt and Libya, is the effect of the development on the Moslems. Evidence that the Allied Nations are winning the global conflict will solidify and strengthen the support which the Moslems have always, in great majority, given the cause of Britain and of America.

Nowhere in the world has the British ability to win 'he confidence and friendship of other peoples been so emphatically demonstrated as among the Moslems of Africa and the Near East. The story of Lawrence of Arabia is a romantic and dramatic illustration of this fact,

On the other hand, the inability of the Germans to successfully colonize or administer the affairs of occupied countries has been notably shown wherever they have come into such contact with the Moslem races. The old German colonies in Africa, before the first World War, were hotbeds of resentment and hatred by the natives for the German officials who tried to administer them. Always, when German and Britisher meet in the far outposts of the world, it is the British representative who holds the confidence and approval of the natives, the German who is feared and hated.

Now that it is becoming clear that the Axis is on the toboggan toward compelte defeat, the real sympathies of the Moslems will be shown. That sympathy will be invaluable to the Allied

Luring Women Workers

A news story from Chicago tells how retail stores, mail order houses and others are competing for women workers for the Christmas buying rush. Newspaper advertisements, in the "Help Wanted" column, tell prospective employes they will be furnished with daily siestas with pay, convenient transportation, club rooms, discounts on merchandise, use of a library, modern lounges, private restaurant, etc., etc.

Is it necessary to offer such inducements to find women who will accept a job? Not that the items listed are not desirable, in every sense. They constitute welcome and gratifying concern for the well-being of employes.

It is, however, remarkable that in all the advertisements mentioned, there is one item never referred to at all. This is, too, the one item which would undoubtedly have greatest effect of all in securing the desired workers.

That is the rate of pay. Why don't they lure the women with dollars which, after all, is the one reason why the great majority of workers, of either sex, accept any job.

Or is there a price ceiling on such pay rolls,

THE LAST STANZA

(From The Albany Herald.)

There is much merit in the campaign announced by the Writers' War Board to popularize the last stanza of the "Star-Spangled Banner." The first stanza, most often sung, will never be forgotten by loyal Americans, nor should it be. But the last stanza sounds a depth of loyalty to our flag that renders it well worthy of more frequent singing. The drive to accomplish this purpose was suggested by Margaret Leech, and Kate Smith, popular singer, is helping the cause along by using it on her weekly radio program. It follows:

Oh, thus be it ever, when freemen shall stand

WASHINGTON PARADE

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

SURFACE VESSELS FIGHT WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 .- In our jubilation over the recent Solomons Islands victory we seem to have overlooked one phase of the battle which may have an important bearing on future naval operations in the Pacific

Not enough emphasis has been given the fact that this marked the first time surface vessels of the American and Japanese fleets have met in a full-scale head-on clash. The results have been entirely satisfactory to our Navy men. They are in keeping with the high rating placed on the quality of our naval vessels from the start, and they prove the unexcelled fighting stamina of our men Nothing was lacking to make it the biggest naval engagement since the Battle of Jutland. and it all ended beautifully victorious on our The Japs now have cause to ponder some of their earlier ideas about the weakness of our Navy and the quality of our sailors.

In the two earlier spectacular sea victories we won in the Pacific-at Midway and in the ral Sea-the two opposing navies never within arm's length of each other. Not a shot was fired from a single gun of either fleet. The damage was done by the respective air branches of the two forces.

plus the limited operations of submarines. These battles, together with others of lesser importance, proved the effectiveness of our air service, both as to planes and pilots. They also certified a great amount of skill in the handling of our aircraft carriers, which now have come to be recognized as the first

RECORD OF SUBMARINES Likewise, the quality of our long-range submarines has long been established. They have engaged in successful operations in Japan's front yard. We have lost remarkably few of themeonly five, in fact, according to last accounts. They have been credited with sinking a large number of Japanese ships, war vessels as well as merchantmen.

But prior to the recent Solomons battle no test had been offered major units of the surface fleet. On the night of August 8 one of our cruiser task forces was caught off guard while screening the unloading of American transports at Guadalcanal. We suffered the loss of three heavy cruisers and the Australians had one sunk, also. About a month later another skirmish was fought in the same area, but this time we turned the tables on the Japs, sinking one of their heavy cruisers, four destroyers, and one 5,000ton transport. The only thing we lost was one destroyer.

AGAIN THEY FLED Still later at the Santa Cruz Islands, where we had a bigger engagement with the Japs on October 25-26, we again put their fleet to flight, but with the same tactics we employed at Midway and in the Coral Sea. Air units of the Navy got to them before our surface vessels came within range.

Thus the latest Solomons battle was the first time the big guns of the Navy have had an opportunity to come into action. segments of the fleet were represented, including some of our latest battleships, which are supposed to embrace all of the latest scientific instruments. Naturally, the moment was awaited with the keenest anxiety by our naval heads. It was the finished blueprint going into action.

For years all of our naval strategy has been built upon the idea that ultimately we would have to fight the Japs. Most of our ships have been constructed with a view to their use in the Pacific. To the exclusion of most every other major naval power, of which there have been few since the last World War, our Navy personnel has been trained to think in terms of Japan as a possible

FIRST REAL TEST Hence the Solomons victory was the first real test of all of our thinking and planning. The fact that it ended as it did is complete vindication of our naval system.

Privately many, if not all, of our higher admirals are known to have felt from the start that man for man, ship for ship, the Japs were no match for us on the seas. Our ships and guns and scientific instruments were supposed to be far superior to anything they Moreover, our naval marksmanship was reputed to be the highest in the world, exceeding even that of the British, who for centuries have been rated as the world's best sea fighters.

Too disdainfully, perhaps, we have been inclined to look upon Japan's fleet as a papier-mache navy which we would find little difficulty in bowling over once we came to grips with them. Supreme copyists that they are, we were always ahead of them in the latest scientific developments because they had to wait for eone else to produce new inventions before being able to adopt them to their own use.

WE UNDERRATED JAPS We discovered after the outbreak of the war in the Pacific had underrated them somewhat, both as to the caliber of their ships and the size of their navy. We were led into the latter error by the tight veil of secrecy which was thrown around all naval construction in Japan for some years prior to Pearl Harbor.

we have no accurate information as to the make-up of the Jap navy. But we do now have cause to judge the relative merits of the two fleets. In the Solomons battle we sank 28 of their ships, including probably two battleships, with a loss of less than half that number of our own. And we did it, according to the Navy De-partment, with a numerically inferior force. The whole action seems to be epitomized by the fact that one of our 10,000-ton cruisers, the San Francisco, silenced the guns of a battleship nearly three times her size, opening the way for our destroyers to come in for the final torpedo thrust.

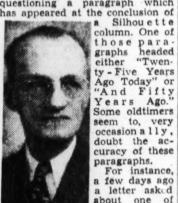

representing the first major contact between the two fleets, should have a significant bearing on future events.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH McGILL.

NEW VOTERS ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 25.—Governor-elect Ellis Arnall's proposal that 18-year-old young men and women be allowed to vote by an amending act of the state legislature, is proper and ought to have public support.

If they are old enough to fight for a government, they are old enough to participate in the construction. They would bring a lot of intelligence and enthusiasm to politics. That was demonstrated in our recent primary. They would provide a healthy leavening of the political mixture.

It is an idea I long have advocated. Wars are made by older men. Political corrupting is done by older men. Most of the time the decisions are made by men who have let the world go past them; by men who have lost vision and rage. Youth has never had a voice The recent selective service act, taking in men as young as 18, means they now are to defend their country and its form of government. It is entirely possible that some of them will die for that form of government and that others will be crippled for life in that defense. For all of them it will be an arresting period in their lives, putting upon their minds a solemn and compelling reality. I do not see how a nation can refuse them the right to vote in the political decisions of their country. I hope that Georgia, when the legislature meets in January, will be the first state to enact enabling legislation.

IN THE FUTURE We had an Army of about 3,000,000 men in the first World War. In this one we will have, counting the men in the Navy and Coast Guard, an Army of 10,000,000 men.

The men who came back from the first World War have had a substantial influence in politics.

It is interesting to speculate on what influence this Army of 10,000,000 will have when it comes back.

It is going to dominate the country's politics.

I think it should.

There are those who already are becoming afraid. I can understand that. The reaction will be rather definite. This Army will come back with a lot of resentments, with a lot of ideas of their own. Some of them will be, according to present lights, rather reactionary. Some of them will be painful. That is quite inevitable.

That is why you will hear some persons saying how terrible it will be to have this Army in control of politics. I do not agree. I hope they will come back and do things. I think it entirely proper that they should. In the very force of their influence they will cut through to better things. That they will be wounded and hurt as they go is also true and also inevitable. But I am all for them coming home not merely interested in politics but determined to do something about politics. I have had quite a few parents mail me in letters from these soldiers. They were just to be read as information. The contents of some of these letters would shock some of our leaders of labor. They would shock, too, some of our more staid people.

If they could act now they would act with a cold sort of fury. It will be tempered by the end of the war and the fact of coming But they will act. And I think they should act. They will have earned the right to act. PLANS IN THE MAKING There are those, among the older politicians, who sense this fact. It already is possible to see them at work, trying to set the stage for the coming back of these men. They are preparing a program, or a platform, which they think will fit into the resentments and reactions the soldiers will have. They want to have this ready so that when the soldiers come home by will step from the dock onto this political platform.

There is a faction in the Democratic party which is hard at work on this platform as there is one in the Republican party.

Their organizers are traveling the country, lining up a governor here and there; a senator and a congressman, a local political power.

If the returning soldiers fall for either of these plans, which will be subtle and cunningly laid, they will have betrayed them-

What they must do is to use their own leaders and not take the old familiar political bosses and leaders who were bungling things in all the years after the first war and up to, and into this one. If they come back and produce their own leaders they will do the country a great service. If they accept the platforms and the honeyed invitations now being prepared they will have lost again.

Decatur Man Homesick for Fighting Main

Lieutenant Giddens Has Spent 20 Years in Navy Service.

News of the Pacific fighting puts a nostalgic glint in the eye of Lieutenant William R. Giddens, first lieutenant in charge of buildings and grounds of the United States Naval Aviation base.

For, man and boy, he's spent most of his life on the roaring main, and if he had his way about it, would be right there battling it out with the Nipponese.

The lieutenant, a resident of Decatur, first enlisted on January 8, 1904. Until June 1, 1934, when retired, he was associated with many leading personalities of his generation.

In 1905, he shipped aboard the U. S. S. Ohio when that proud battleship was host to President William Howard Taft's party visiting the Orient. On that trip he met Nicholas Longworth, later to become speaker of the house, and the beauteous Alice Roosevelt, members of the entourage.

He served under Admiral Chester Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, when Nimitz was divi-sional commander of submarines, and under Vice Admiral John Towers, formerly chief of the bureau of aeronautics and now naval air chief in the Pacific.

In the first World war, Giddens did submarine duty with the Atlantic fleet, later commanding the L. S. Pinola and Iroquois. He served aboard the battleships Ohio, New York and Oregon, on the Concord, Milwaukee and Cheyenne. The historic New York was Admiral Sampson's flagship in the battle of Santiago.

Many of his 2" years at sea were spent in the Philippine theater. He knows the Aleutians, the Chinasea, the South Atlantic and Pacific.

RAF Bombers Blast Jap

Airdrome in Burma NEW DELHI, Nov. 25.—(P)— RAF bombers blasted a Japanese airdrome at Meiktila, Burma, south of Mandalay, last night for the second night in succession, starting a number of fires, a British communique announced today.

The communique text:
"Last night RAF bombers went for the second night running to Meiktila in Burma. The target was a Japanese airdrome. Bombs were dropped on the main runway and in dispersal areas and some fires were started. None of our aircraft is missing."

WLB Authorizes Equal

Wages for Men, Women WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP The War Labor Board today authorized employers to equalize the wages of women with those of men for comparable quality and quantity of work, without prior board approval. This authority was given in General Order 16. The adjustments made in women's pay under this order, however, must be reported to the board, and in no case may the increases be used as a basis for higher price ceil-

Flight Officers Now Entitled To Salute

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(P)— Enlisted men of the Army have some more saluting to do under a War Department ruling announce ed today.

It decreed that warrant officers and flight officers now are entitled to the salute and other courtesies normally granted commissioned officers.

Chief warrant officers and warrant officers, junior grade, rank immediately below lieutenants. Flight officers rank with junior grade warrant officers.

Brazil Halts Blackout With Yielding of Dakar

RECIFE, Brazil, Nov. 25 .- (P)-The blackout which has been in force in this strategic area, on the easternmost bulge of South America, was suspended today by military authorities—a sequel to the announcement that Dakar, some 1,800 miles across the south Atlantic, had thrown in its lot with

"Previous dangers on this coast have decreased sufficiently to warrant a return to normal conditions," the order said.

Shorter Shirttails

In Effect December 15 WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(P)— Shorter shirttails and plainer pajamas for the men were decreed today by the War Production Board to save fabric. Shirts manufactured after December 15 will be two to three inches shorter. WPB estimated this would result in an annual saving of cotton and other fabrics sufficient to manufacture 10,000,000 additional shirts. The order also simplifying styles of men's and boys' pajamas will save enough material annually for 200,000 additional pairs, the WPB lief Move ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Thursday, Nov. 26. (P)—Allied bombers sank two Jap destroyers and damaged a third during futile enemy attempts to relieve their tottering defenders of Buna, in northeast New Guinea, the high command announced today.

This naval blow was struck while fiercest close contact fighting raged for the coastal base of Buna, whose outskirts forward elements of the Allies entered nearly a week ago.

Today's communique told of the Australians and Americans mov-ing upon carefully prepared posi-tions which included dugouts and harbad wire barbed wire.

The Japs have set up at Buna "all the defensive attributes of a fortress," General Douglas MacArthur's command stated.

For Christmas Shoppers-

Free Ride Friday

HERE'S a combination of events that makes tomorrow an outstanding day in the Christmas shopping season—a free round-trip ride on the street car or bus in connection with the big AFTER-THANKSGIVING SALE at the stores and shops.

You can ride to town and back without paying a penny provided only that you start your trip to town between 10 and 11 o'clock in the morning and begin your return trip home not later than 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

This offer, which is made possible by The Atlanta Constitution, is good on all regular city lines of the Georgia Power Company. There will be no free rides, however, on the feeder buses, the Shoppers Special buses or the Marietta or Stone Mountain interurban lines. Transfers will not be given with free rides.

To get the free round trip you have only to observe these two conditions:

1. Board you inbound street car, bus or trackless trolley between 10 and 11 o'clock Friday morning, November 27. Pay no fare, but ask the operator for a free Shoppers Ticket entitling you to a return trip.

2. When you are ready to return home, board your regular trolley or bus at any time before 4 o'clock and give the operator your free Shoppers Ticket.

Every effort will be made to provide ample transportation service for the many shoppers who will take advantage of this opportunity. However, due to wartime restrictions on the use of rubber tires, we cannot supply extra service on bus and trackless trolley lines.

Make All Your Shopping Trips Between 10 And 4

Shoppers who ride to town after 10 and leave town by 4 are co-operating in the Atlanta staggered hours program. Before 10 and after 4 all available space on the transportation facilities is needed to carry workers to and from their jobs. The best time for shoppers to ride is between 10 and 4.

Daily except Saturday you can use Shoppers Tickets during these hours and get a bargain in transportation—two rides for 10 cents. Simply board your trolley or bus after 10 o'clock and ask the operator for a 10-cent Shoppers Ticket, which is good for a second ride any time up to 4 o'clock the same day.

Good Jobs Waiting

TAYLORCRAFT AVIATION

CORPORATION

We are in need of approximately 40 welders which can be male or female as we have experimented with female welders and find they are very satisfactory in our type of aircraft production. The graduates that you have already sent are very capable and some master our production methods

After inspecting your layout for aircraft welding,

I find that your set-up is well equipped to give the training necessary for aircraft welding. Any graduates that you can send in the near future

Very truly yours.

Atlantan Will Be Speaker On British Radio Program

By SALLY FORTH.

• • ATLANTA SHINES by reflected glory in the selection of Honey Briggs (Mrs. William) Plummer to be among guest commentators on the short wave radio program coming from London and scheduled for next Sunday evening. Honey will leave for New York today, and she, with Adolph Menjou, the movie star, and a number of other guests, will take part in the program presented by the British Broadcasting Company sented by the British Broadcasting Company.

The program is entitled "Answering You," and it will consist of questions propounded on one side of the Atlantic and answered on the other. Instigated by the British Broadcasting Company, the questions will relate, of course, to the English soldiers on duty or in training in the United States. This two-way program will be heard locally over the Mutual Station WATL at 11:30 o'clock on Sunday night.

Honey is well qualified to answer questions about the British, for she and her husband, Lieutenant Colonel Plummer, who is now on duty with the air base in Florida, have entertained many of the RAF cadets in their home. She will be particularly interested in learning the reaction of the cadets to the American way of life and their comments on this country when they return to England, and one of her questions will seek this information. Thus she will doubtless be able to make their visits here more enjoyable. Honey is a member of the Atlanta branch of the English-Speaking Union, and it was through this organization that she first became acquainted with the British cadets.

Another honor which has come to the Atlantan is her appointment as a member of the panel group of correspondents to offer helpful criticism on B. B. S. broadcasts.

• • • SEVENTEEN-year-old Elinor Sauls has en-rolled in the freshman class at Agnes Scott College and is making excellent marks in her studies. She is the beautiful brown-eyed and golden-haired daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Sauls, and the niece of Mrs. Baxter Maddox.

Elinor is exceptionally talented in art, and won the Lon Grove award for drawing from life at the High Museum of Art. When the High Museum Theater Group presented the play, "Squaring the Circle," the scenes were designed by this gifted young Atlantan.

Elinor expects to concentrate upon costume designing as one of the necessary accomplishments leading toward a future career in this field. Every week, she spends one day at the High Museum to devote her time and attention to her art leases. She attention to her art lessons. She is fond of outdoor sports also, and likes badminton, rides horseback and loves football. When it comes to ballroom dancing Elinor is regarded as a very graceful exponent of terp-

. . . EVELYN AND Polk Gholston are residing in Macon at present, after having spent seven months in Miami and three months in Molumbus, for Polk to get his training in the armed forces. Just recently, Polk was commissioned a first lieutenant, and was notified about his promotion in rank at his hirthday party.

It happened this way. Evelyn gave a surprise party for her husband in commemoration of his natal day, and after he blew out the candles on his cake, Polk's commanding officer handed him the order noti-fying him of his promotion to that of first lieutenant.

Polk is the only son of Mr.
and Mrs. J. W. Gholston, those well-known citizens of Comer. Ga. His father owns several large plantations and his mother is the former beloved president of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs. At present, Mrs. Gholston is the financial chairman of the state body, and has jurisdiction over the amount of money to be spent by the

. . . MRS. W. H. SQUIRES. war service chairman for the Fifth District Federation of Garden Clubs, will have an interesting story of "work accomplished" when federation president, Mrs. Guy Smith, next calls for her report.

Taking as her first project, through Bundles for America, the furnishing of one suite and one room in the bachelor officers' quarters at the Atlanta Army Air Base, Mrs. Squires completed the job in record time. Starting with the basic articles provided by the Army —one cot and one straight chair -she added the essential items for comfort. They included reading lamps, a chest of drawers, tables, a small desk, tailored couch covers, draperies, cornice board and scatter rugs.

That initial project finished, Mrs. Squires appraised the grounds with a gardener's eye and decided that the bachelor officers' quarters needed shrubbery. The suggestion was com-municated to Major Francis D. Shoemaker, executive officer at the base, by Mrs. Willard C. Patterson, president of the At-lanta chapter of Bundles for America. Major Shoemaker ac-cepted the offer promptly and Mrs. Squires, with the co-opera-tion of Mrs. L. L. McMullin, assembled gifts of shrubbery from members of her St. Charles Garden Club, and late last week supervised the planting. And in good time to profit by

Although she will not initiate another major project until after the Christmas holidays, Squires is not resting on her honors. Instead, she is collaborating with Bundles for America to fulfill a huge assign ment just handed the organiza-tion by Third Corps Headquar-ters, now housed in a new building just completed for the Corps at Fort McPherson. With two sons in the Army-

one a major, the other a cap-tain—Mrs. Squires takes very much to heart the opportunity for service to the fighting forces. She proceeds on the theory that when women provide just such comforts and necessities as they wish for their own sons, they will have found the right yardstick. Nothing less; she feels, will meet the situation.

Purely Personal Chatter About Atlanta Debutantes

Editor's Note: This is the fourteenth of a series of sketches giving intimate glimpses into the lives of Atlanta debutantes. Banning all social functions in their honor, this season's buds have voted to concentrate on war and defense work, their efforts along this line to be revealed in this series.

By SALLY FORTH.

• • • DEBUTANTE MARJORIE RAGAN'S return in September to Wesleyan Colege, where she is a popular student, curtailed her defense work to a degree. But this attractive deb, who is "Margie" to those who know her best, rolled dozens of bandages at the Red Cross headquarters last summer, and plied her knitting needles diligently making sweaters for the Red Cross.

Miss White Weds Mr. Leyda in Canon

CANON, Ga., Nov. 25 .- A marriage of interest was that of Miss Mary Elizabeth White, of Carnes-

ville and Brunswick, to Harold J. Leyda, of Brunswick, which was solemnized at an afternoon ceremony on November 22 at the home of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joe F. White, in

A profusion of whit: and yellow chrysanthemums adorned the home.

Marjorie, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ragan, is one of the most popular and admired members of the Debutante Club. She is not only "lovely to look at and de-lightful to know," she is extremely versatile.

Unusually gifted in journal-ism, she is a member of the edi-torial staff of the Watch Tower, monthly paper at Wesleyan, as well as a member of the literary staff of the college annual. Several of her poems have also ap-peared in the Watch Tower. Marjorie's innate originality is expressed in the chic costumes which she occasionally designs for herself. She likes pastels, which accent to advantage her fair curly hair and dancing brown eyes. This debutante has a regal type of beauty, and moves with exceptional grace. Her proficiency as a swimmer is evidenced by the fact that she has been on the class swimming team every year for several seasons. She is fond of numerous aquatic sports—particularly fishing. She has spent her vacations for several years at either St. Simons Island or Miami Beach, and handles a hook and line with the skill of an expert. Marjorie also has a flair for painting. She uses both water colors and oils, and her completed canvases have received flattering praise.

A member of the Phi Pi so-rority and the Girls' Circle for Tallulah Falls School, she en-joys classical music, dancing, badminton and horseback riding, and confesses that she is partial to bright red nail polish and orchids combined with and orchids combined with valley lilies. She is a graduate of Washington Seminary and is noted for her gracious manner and even disposition.

William Edward Coogler, four-and-half-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Coogler Jr., was christened Sunday morning at the Hapeville Methodist church. Rev. L. B. Jones, pastor of the church, and Rev. Henry T. Smith, of Au-gusta, former pastor of the mother, officiated.

The baby wore a hand-made batiste dress which was first worn by his father when he was christened.

Standing with the parents were the baby's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Coogler Sr., and his aunt, Miss Lillian Coogler.

The bride wore a gown of antique ivory satin with tiny seed pearls interwoven through the shoulders and sweetheart neck-line. Her veil of bridal illusion was caught to her hair by a pearl coronet and extended past her long dress train. The veil was scattered with tiny orange blossoms. She carried her confirmation Bible bound in white satin nd showered with white orchids. The bride's mother wore an eggshell faille gown with lace trim-ming and cluster of orchids. Mrs. Rotman, mother of the bride-groom, were French blue with a spray of orchids.

Following the reception, held in the vestry room, the couple was honored at a dinner party given at the bride's home on Rosedale road. Later in the evening the couple left for Blackstone, Va., where Lieutenant Rotman is sta-tioned. For traveling, the bride chose a salmon-colored velveteen dress with topcoat of black wool, trimmed with mink collar. She wore a mink hat and accessories of black suede and a shoulder cluster of orchids.

As House Guest

SAYBROOK, Conn., Tuesday.—Yesterday I had the pleasure of meeting all the ladies of the cabinet at luncheon. We discussed some of the activities, or rather the curtailment of activities, in the social life of this extremely busy city. That took a rather small amount of time and so we found ourselves able to talk about many of the happenings of the day in the world at large. How avid we all are for war news, and how anxious we women are to feel that good news today means the war will not last long. In the afternoon Dean Grayson N. Kefauver, of Stanford University, came to see me about a proposal for the establishment of a joint commission of education in democratic societies, which he, Sir Ernest Simon and others are now discussing. It is a most interesting subject, and one which I think will take a good deal of thought in the development.

The President of Ecuador and his son spent the night with us. They arrived by air in time for tea. The President gave an official stag dinner in the evening and I attended a concert at Bolling Field. They are having a series of concerts and I had agreed, before I went away, to go as soon as possible and was very happy that I could do so last night.

I took the night train to New York City and the 9 a. m. train to Saybrook, Conn., to see my friends, Miss Lape and Miss Read, before fulfilling a long postponed engagement at Connecicut College.

On Saturday last, the first center in the United States for service women of the United Nations was formally opened in Detroit, Mich. The WAACS have a USO center in Des Moines, Iowa, but the one in Detroit is international because of the Canadian service women often spending their 48-hour weekend in Detroit. Of course, all the branches of military service in which women are now serving will use this center, and the Y. W. C. A. is very proud that their central branch building has been chosen to be the home of this new activity.

They tell me, with a great deal of pride, that this USO center will have everything which the men's USO center has, plus feminine touches, such as a laundry, attractive curtains, and bedspreads in the rooms. The women directing this new center have had a great deal of experience, both in military circles and in war and peacetime work with the Y. W. C. A., and I look forward to having an opportunity to see this club the first time I am able to
